

Spotlight Makes 14 Arrests

"Operation Spotlight" was in effect in the Antioch-Lake Villa area from 3 p.m.-9 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 12. Nine squads took part in the concerted effort to pick up violators of traffic laws; four squads of state police, one from the Lake County Sheriff's office, a Lake Villa squad, a Lindenhurst squad and two squads from Antioch. Fourteen tickets were issued during the six-hour drive, twelve for speeding and two for failing to stop for a stop sign.

This is the seventh area in which "Operation Spotlight" has been put into action.

In the drive in Warren and Newport, with 10 squads taking part, 19 arrests were made; in Grant and Avon, 14 squads made 25 arrests; in Shields, West Deerfield and Deerfield, 18 squads made 82 arrests; in Wauconda and Fremont, 13 squads made 13 arrests; in Waukegan, Zion and Benton, 18 squads made 183 arrests; in Libertyville and Vernon, 11 squads made 26 arrests.

"Operation Spotlight" is conducted by the Lake County Safety Commission, to make the public conscious of danger of traffic violations. The Area Co-ordinator for the Antioch-Lake Villa area was Antioch Police Chief Walter Scott.

Leaves For Southern U.

Mike Brooks, old and faithful employee of the Antioch News, left our staff yesterday to pursue higher education in the hallowed halls of Southern Illinois University.

Actually, Mike isn't very old (18 years) but he's aged in the months that he's worked here. This is probably because of the many heavy responsibilities which he has taken on. Like making the morning coffee. And risking his life and limbs to take pictures of the football team in action, shots of the school addition, and weddings on roller skates. And filling in, when needed, for every conceivable duty in a combined newspaper and print shop.

MIKE BROOKS

It is with tears and loud lamentations that we see Mike leave, though we're happy he's going on to school. But no matter how badly we feel today, we know we're going to feel worse next Wednesday, when we're in the last-minute frenzy of getting out a paper and yell for help from Mike when he isn't there.

Mike must be a little shook up, too, because Tuesday, for the first time since he started to work here, he dropped a galley of type on the floor. And Wednesday he committed the unpardonable sin—he stole the office fly-swatter for the back room. A swatter-snatcher is one step below a bulb-snatcher. And normally Mike would not dream of committing such an infringement of ethics.

Mike contributed the column, "Inside Antioch High" and various high school sports stories and news to The Antioch News through his senior year at Antioch High last year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Brooks of 1105 Bishop St., Antioch. Mrs. Brooks is Dean of Women and Health Co-ordinator at Antioch High. Mr. Brooks, semi-retired, is a furniture finisher and cabinet maker.

Unplanned Drill At Grass Lake School

Grass Lake School had an unplanned fire drill last Thursday when a first grade boy decided to find out what would happen if he flipped that switch on the wall of the corridor.

It was recess time for some of the grades, but the rest got a delightful break in their routine as they filed out in good order.

The only difficulty arose when there was trouble locating the key to turn off the alarm. The key was finally found, we're happy to report.

Mark In "Red" On Calendar!

Next month the Nation will honor, celebrate, or otherwise acknowledge in varying degrees, Columbus Day, Navy Day, Halloween, etc., etc.

The Antioch Township Republican Men's Club is asking area residents to add another special day to this already impressive list when they announced plans for their first annual "Red Murrie Day."

Held in honor of Lloyd "Red" Murrie, Antioch Township Supervisor, the event is set for Wednesday, October 12, at Vernon Hills Country Club, on Rte. 45, southeast of Mundelein.

Working in co-operation with the Antioch Township Republican Women's club the affair includes a full day of activities.

Starting at 9:30 a.m., there will be a golf outing for the men, followed by dinner and dancing in the evening. Dinner is scheduled for 7 p.m.

A committee comprised of Herb Horton, Gilbert Melsgeler, Elmer Eberman, Walter Delaney, Agnes Van Patten and Herman Holbek met Tuesday night to work out details for the "day."

Tickets for the affair will be sold by Republican men's and women's club members. The committee announced that it was the plan of the two organizations to make this "Day" an annual event and all interested residents are invited to attend.

The proceeds from the "Day" will go to the Republican Men's Club and will be used for future political promotions.

Lloyd "Red" Murrie is currently in his second term as Supervisor. Marking his eighth year in office, Murrie comes up for re-election this coming April.

There'll Be Turkey For Dinner, Ma

Antioch area residents can expect some pretty nervous turkeys for the next few weeks, and we're not referring to Thanksgiving.

It's going to be a turkey shooters paradise with three such events coming off in three successive weeks. Starting with the Lions sponsored shoot Sunday, Sept. 23, another on Sunday, Sept. 30, sponsored by the Jaycees and then moving to Oct. 7, for the Ducks Unlimited event.

The first of these events, sponsored by the Antioch Lions Club, is scheduled at Sunny Acres, south of Antioch, on route 21, near Floral Acres.

Time for the shoot is set for 10 a.m. and will continue till 5 p.m. A variety of events are scheduled including trap shoots, archery, darts, Mallard Ring and a Lucky Shoot.

A refreshment stand will be provided and according to Joe Patrovsky, committee chairman, there will be an activity for everyone young or old.

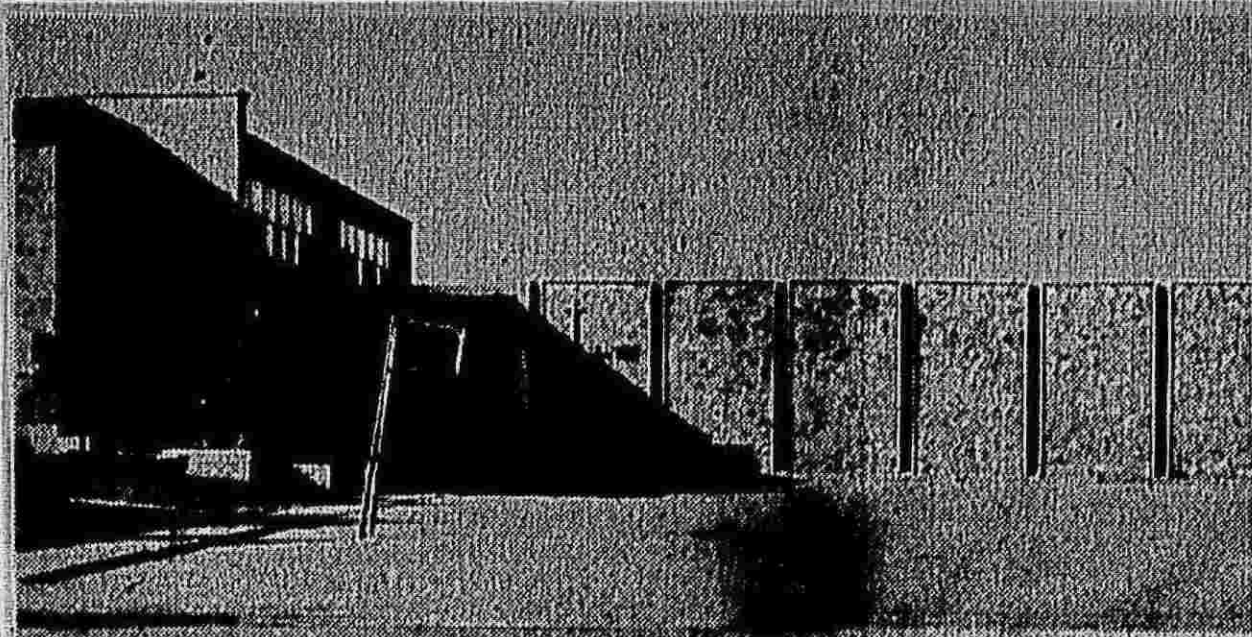

In the turkey shoot, contestants will be shooting at a target from a distance of 40 yards. A ten pound turkey will be awarded to the winner of each shoot. Ten contestants will constitute a shoot.

The trap shoot will be by elimination, with one winner for every five participants. Winners of the trap shoot will be going to major in printing management with photography for a minor.

We all wish you well, Mike. And we know you'll do O.K.

Eye Test Apparatus Given By Lions Club

With the problems of operating and financing a swimming pool partially solved by its closing for another year, the Antioch Lions Club turned to other matters this week.

The local club presented the Antioch Grade School with an American Optical School Vision Screening Test Monday. The device, based on the Massachusetts Vision Test, will be used by all the grade schools in the area for visual screening of the students.

The testing device is portable and can be easily taken from one school to another. Frederick L. Lincione, representative from American Optical Company, said the machine is to be used to find gross error in vision only and should not be confused with a visual examination.

Mrs. James Bruski, physical education teacher and school nurse at the Antioch Grade School, will administer the tests and serve as instructor to staff members of other schools.

The test is not scored in any manner, the student either "passes" or "fails". If he fails the test is duplicated to check the results and make sure the student understands the procedure.

In case of a failure, a note is sent home to the parents suggesting that the child might have a visual deficiency and an eye examination would be worth while.

Mr. Lincione said the test is somewhat fallible, however, and a reasonable number of under-referrals and over-referrals may be expected.

The test itself is given in 5 parts. The standard distance test commonly used in the Schnell chart, once for each eye. In the second and third parts of the test the student looks through the headpiece and sees the image of a house.

A red line should be visible, in one case passing horizontally through the window of the house and in the other test passing vertically through any part of the house. If the lines are seen at any other point, the student fails.

In the last test, the student looks through the headpiece at a painted butterfly and should see a vertical red line passing through it.

Produced by the American Optical Company, the test is "a health screening to select children with visual deficiencies such that an examination by an optometrist is highly desirable."

Mr. Lincione said that many things will affect the results of the test and that they should be given to each child individually without anyone else in the room.

The test, complete with testing charts and record cards was presented to the grade school by Bill Lahti, chairman of the Sight Conservation Committee, of the Antioch Lions Club. Reported cost of the equipment is approximately $200.

Last Resort Guilty - Opens On Appeal

The Lake County Liquor Commission found the Last Resort, Fox Lake tavern, guilty of the charge of selling liquor to minors when it met last Thursday.

The case involved the selling of liquor to two teen-age girls. The Liquor Commission immediately revoked the license of the tavern.

The Last Resort promptly appealed the case to the State Liquor Board, allowing them to stay open until the appeal is heard.

This is the second case in which the tavern's license was revoked by the Lake County Liquor Commission. The State Board is expected to hear the tavern's appeal on the first case on October 17.

Rescue Squad Aids Several

The Antioch Rescue Squad had a comparatively quiet week.

The squad took John Ecks, 77, of Bluff Lake to the hospital after he suffered a stroke, on September 13.

Katherine Hynek of Lake Avenue, Channel Lake, was taken to Victory-Memorial Hospital by the squad on September 15.

On September 17 Elsie Westphal of Beach Grove Road was taken to Victory Memorial Hospital by the squad after suffering a heart attack. She was attended by Dr. Kopriva.

On September 18 the squad was called to the Quaker Industries plant in Antioch, where Helen Skelton of Lindenhurst, a worker at the plant, had suffered a cut leg. Mrs. Skelton, in her work, had laid a metal shelf up against her work table. As she walked back and forth, she knocked it over and the end hit her left leg above the ankle, gashing the leg. Mrs. Skelton was taken to the office of Dr. Kopriva, where seven stitches were required to close the wound.

Has a Girl Scout representative called at your home or place of business for a donation yet?

Rites for St. Peter's Addition

Sunday, September 23 will become another important date in the history of the St. Peter's Church of Antioch.

On that date, His Eminence Albert Cardinal Meyer will bless the new St. Peter's Parish Social Center and administer the Sacrament of Confirmation to 200 children and adults.

The dedication of the new structure will add another page to an already long and impressive history that dates back to 1900 when Father

M. Bruton first founded the parish.

The dedication rites, Sunday, the 23rd, will be the culmination of long and tedious effort by Father Henderson and members of the St. Peter's Church. Organization and planning for the new complement began as far back as the summer of 1960, progressed to the ground breaking ceremony, August 13, 1961, and continued to the opening of the building for classroom use on September 5 of this year.

After administering the Sacrament of Confirmation, the Cardinal and members of the visiting clergy will attend a dinner in the Social Center. The dinner will be prepared and served by the ladies of the parish, with Mesdames Thomas Runyard, Robert Berg, and John Rampp serving as co-chairman.

Father Henderson has issued an invitation to parishioners, the people of Antioch, officials, and all the friends of St. Peter's Church to attend the dedication.

"It will be a Social Center teeming with activity," Father Henderson said, "a gathering place for old and young alike. It is a center that Antioch has needed for a long time, a place where the youth can gather to greet, to talk, and to find safe, healthy, enjoyable activity during their leisure hours."

The new addition houses 4 classrooms, supervisors' office, food room, coaches' office and gymnasium. Included are boys' and girls' locker rooms, showers, and washrooms. The structure includes ample storage space.

Equipped with the latest in communications systems the building is able to accommodate a number of activities. The wood floor of the gymnasium is equipped for roller skating, basketball, volleyball, dancing, plus a variety of other sports.

The outside of the new addition is an attractive stone design. A large parking lot and playground covers the area immediately to the east of the structure.

858 Pupils At ATHS

Enrollment figures of Antioch Township High School have been released.

There are 147 seniors, including 89 boys and 58 girls. Of the 190 juniors, 84 are girls and 112 boys. There are 276 sophomores, 124 girls and 152 boys. Freshmen are also predominantly boys, with 107 girls and 132 boys, a class of 239.

Total enrollment at the school is 858, including 404 girls and 454 boys.

NICC Meets Next Wed.

The Northern Illinois Conservation Club will hold its regular meeting next Wednesday, September 26.

The club is asking members to turn in petitions they are circulating seeking a survey of the fish in the Chain of Lakes, to determine the status between Pan, Game and Rough Fish.

Residents Buy Bonds

Lake County residents purchased a total of $433,064 in series E and H United States savings bonds in August, according to Philip L. Speidel of Lake Forest and John Meade of North Chicago general county co-chairman of the savings bonds committee.

EDITORIAL

A Public Works Department For Lake County?

Whether or not Lake County shall have a Public Works Department is a matter of concern to county residents at the present time.

Issues, a publication probably familiar to most residents, came out against the proposed Public Works Department last week, in a newsletter. Their arguments against the proposed department are re-printed here:

To get the other side of the picture, we talked to Carl Berning, Chairman of the Public Works Committee. Mr. Berning condemned issues for presenting a distorted picture of the facts in this case and others, such as the matter of building a new county courthouse.

After reading arguments pro and con, what is your opinion? We'd like to hear from our readers on this matter.

Berning Gives "Pro"

The Water and Sewer District, Mr. Berning says, does not have the power to act, in many instances, that a Public Works Dept. would have.

The Water Department was created to supply water to certain districts, and has done that, supplying water to Winthrop Harbor and Zion. There is considerable doubt as to whether the department could legally handle any sewage problems in districts where it is not supplying water.

The Public Works Department, on the other hand, could handle this and other matters outside the jurisdiction of the Water Department.

The Water District is an independent commission responsible to no-one but itself. The Public Works Department would be under the supervision of the County Board of Supervisors.

The Public Works Department, says Mr. Berning, could cope with the flood control problem, which the water district can not. The Public Works Dept., as the arm of an elective public group (the Co. Board of Supervisors) could qualify for Federal loans and grants which the Water District can not. To procure such loans, there must be a department able to guarantee the maintenance of any such installations. The Public Works Dept. could guarantee such maintenance.

There are basic and grave differences, says Mr. Berning, in the concept and total scope of operations of the two departments.

The Public Works Department, Mr. Berning emphasized, would have no revenue from any tax funds, nor would it hold any referendums to raise money. The Dept. would be self-supporting, its income being derived from payments of users of water, sewers, etc.

The Townsend Report, Mr. Berning pointed out, recommends the division of the county into five general areas for handling of the sewerage problem, each area having a major treatment plant. Each area would pay its own costs. Thus, cities and villages already having water and sewer service would pay no portion of the expense, neither would one area bear any portion of the expense of any other area.

Whether or not the Water and Sewer District would continue to exist and function along with the Public Works Dept., or whether it's assets could be taken over by the Public Works Dept., is a matter not yet decided, said Mr. Berning.

Mr. Berning pointed out that every municipality and the State of Illinois has a Public Works Dept.

ISSUES Says "No"

ISSUES challenges anyone to come up with a specific problem that the existing Lake County Water (and Sewer) District cannot solve as well, if not better, than the proposed public works department.

When the people living outside of the North Shore Sanitary District voted to establish in 1951 a Lake County Water (and Sewer) District, they in effect created their own "North Shore Sanitary District." The District exists for the people of central and western Lake County to use.

As far as handling flood control problems are concerned, the proposed public works department has nothing to offer. There is no tax for flood control, nor is there any provision for the selling of either revenue or general obligation bonds for this purpose. The $33,000 a year proposed loan from the county's general fund will be more than eaten up by salaries, with nothing left for flood control.

Flood control belongs to the Lake County Forest Preserve District, which can handle the job if the people want it done, and the Commissioners are willing to act.

As to the larger problem of Water Resources, ISSUES concurs with Health Department officials and public works partisans that a River and Conservancy District is the real solution, and is willing to work for a referendum.

Meeting the Need

On Sunday, September 23, the new addition to the St. Peter's Church School and Social Center will be dedicated. Architecturally, the new addition, like the rest of the Church buildings, is beautiful, and can be pointed out with pride by any Antioch resident, no matter what his faith.

More important in the life of our town, however, than the beauty of the buildings, is the spirit of growth and the meeting of the needs of the people of the community evidenced by the spirit of the Social Center.

Father Henderson says the Social Center will be a gathering place for old and young alike, who will enjoy it's many facilities. "It will be a parish center," he says, "teaming with activity—a center which Antioch has needed for a long time—a place where the youth (of our community) can gather to greet, to talk and to find safe, healthy, enjoyable activities during their leisure hours."

This has been a crying need of our town for some time. And we must compliment St. Peter's—The church officials and people of the parish—on meeting that need.

The history of the growth of St. Peter's church and, in later years, its school, and the way in which it has met the challenges of growth through the years, has marked, indeed, the growth of Antioch, from a small town, through the years when, remaining a small town, it was flooded through three months of the year with summer visitors, to it's present status—still a summer resort, but becoming more and more a thickly populated community, with the many needs and problems of a suburban area.

While touching briefly on the high qualities of the GOP team in Lake County, Wildman devoted most of his talk to stressing the importance of a Republican victory from the top of the ticket down.

The speaker also got in a plug for the GOP Federation dinner at Chevy Chase Country Club Oct. 14 where Texas Senator John Tower will carry the oratorical ball.

Berning incidentally will have a rush schedule this week since he left for California Sunday night to attend a seminar on IBM machine operations in government work and then will hustle back to be on hand for the Berning Testimonial at Deerfield's Legion Home on Sunday.

Founded as a mission in 1900 by Father Bruton, the parish drew it's numbers from a sparsely settled town and countryside. Through the years, the growing number of summer worshippers forced the church to use many makeshift locations for summer Masses—the Channel Lake pavilion, even a large tent. In 1929, ground was broken for the present church, large enough to meet the needs of the growing congregation.

In 1948, the needs of the growing Catholic population were met again with the breaking of ground for the Catholic school. The school opened in September, 1949, and has since served the children of members, and relieved the load of pupils on crowded public schools.

The need for more space for schoolrooms was met again in 1956, when the convent was built, releasing the living quarters of the Sisters of the school for more classrooms.

Now, in 1962, more classrooms have been added, and the Social Center. Father Henderson has stressed that use of the Center will not be confined to the Catholic youth of the community. This is laudable, and sensible. Youth is truly democratic, and does not pick it's friends by creed and politics. And young people will inevitably gravitate to the place where young people gather.

This is Antioch's first real Youth Center. We hope there will be more.

Your Governor Reports

by OTTO KERNER

JUDICIAL AMENDMENT

(last of a series)

It is gratifying to note the groundswell of public support for the judicial amendment to the Illinois constitution on which the electorate will vote by a special blue ballot Nov. 6.

The legal profession with but few dissenters and all segments of public opinion—industry, labor, civic groups and leadership of both political parties—are solidly in favor of its adoption.

In previous reports I have attempted to explain simply some of the provisions of the new amendment and how it will, if approved, establish for Illinois the best system of judicial organization and administration in the nation. Briefly these changes are: Simplification of court structure; provision for administrative direction; adjustment of Supreme Court jurisdiction to modern conditions; improved provisions for the Appellate Court; and a more equitable apportionment of Supreme Court districts.

The amendment includes another provision on which I have not yet touched. It is the matter of the election of judges. Judges would no longer be dependent upon party label or endorsements. They would run on their records.

When a judge reaches the end of his term, his name would appear on the ballot and the voter would be instructed to mark one of two boxes indicating his position on the question: "Shall Judge be retained in office?"

It has been charged that this does not provide a true election in the American tradition and that in some way it derogates from the people's right to elect their judges. The argument is without merit. This very system has been in effect in the State of Missouri for more than 20 years and is being proposed in other states. All federal judges and many state judges are appointed without any elective process.

This system is designed to provide greater assurance of tenure for incumbent judges and thus to enhance their independence both from improper political pressures and from vagaries of the contested election process where, too often, competent judges have been swept out of office.

Very truly,

To The Members of the Community,

We, of the Antioch Volunteer Fire Department, wish to thank each and every one of you for the fine turn-out we had at our dance. It was a great success.

As most of you people know, we sell tickets for the dance in the subdivisions of our First Fire District for about four or five weeks each year to make our dance as big as it is.

Each year, we try and think of something in the line of phone stickers or pamphlets to help you in case you have to call us for help. This we hope will never happen, but you know some of you will call.

In selling the tickets, we have a lot of questions asked about what we do with the money we get from our dance. I think if those who ask these questions were to stop in at the fire station, most of these questions could be answered. Each man has a radio in his home, which, when there is a fire, is given a signal from the answering service that tells us the locations and types of fires. This has helped us greatly, not only by getting to the station and on our way quicker, but is also a great help to the person.

If there ever was an occasion when you were in town when the fire whistle was blowing, you would have noticed cars with blue lights coming in every direction. These blue lights are only asking courtesy for the road to get to the station. We thank you for pulling your cars over and letting us through.

All the officers and men are continually thinking of new ways and new equipment to better our services to you. We hope to make this one of the best, if not THE best in Lake County.

Again, we thank you for your support.

Don't Leave School, Warn Nation's Leading Citizens

According to surveys made by educators, business organizations, the federal government and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce—better-educated people earn more money, are better adjusted to the changing demands of the times, and have a better understanding of their political freedoms—than do those folks who have not completed their education.

All of these leaders advise the young student—about to quit school for employment now—to consider carefully.

Before making the decision to leave school, young people are advised to talk over their particular problems with school advisers, parents, religious and civic leaders.

What may seem to be a bright job opportunity today, may end just there. The future cannot mean advancement without adequate preparation for it.

Many new skills and spec-ilities are constantly needed in every phase of business and industry. The one who is well prepared for the many opportunities that will present themselves in the times ahead will be better prepared to become a leader in the community, better equipped to enjoy leisure and culture, and can make important contributions to our nation's future.

"DON'T QUIT SCHOOL TOO SOON," this is sound advice for young people today.

Health Dept. States Rules

In the past, a percentage of boats in the Lake and McHenry Counties have refrained from polluting the lake waters by refusing to discharge personal sewage and craft refuse into these waters.

Each ordinance, passed by both Lake and McHenry Counties, has increased the support of the past refrainers to keep the natural waters clear of such refuse.

The ordinance states that boat heads be sealed so no rubbish or sewage refuse may enter the water. The head of the boat can be secured by sealing the head's intake and discharge opening with either wood, rubber, or cork materials. The ordinance also suggests that if the boat's head and bilge pump discharge through the same opening, only the head's intake opening needs to be sealed. Removable plugs or seals should be used, because in some natural water areas, the use of boat head water drainage is legal.

Marina operators and the Lake County Health Department inspectors issue decals to sealed boat owners, which must, in turn, be fixed to the boat's windshield. The enforcing of the two county ordinances is carried out by the Lake County Health Department, in cooperation with the Lake and McHenry County Sheriff's Departments. Additional help from the Chain-O-Lakes Deputy Sheriff is also secured in the enforcement procedures. They may inspect during the week or on weekends. The ordinance states that tickets are being issued to boaters who refuse to seal their boat heads or who throw rubbish overboard. Violators who receive violation tickets are required to appear in a specified court on the first Saturday following the violation.

Boaters who want additional information should telephone the Lake County Health Department at Empire 2-0650. Citizen cooperation is appreciated in this matter.

TRADE AT HOME— "The successful political candidate depends to a great extent upon the support he receives from his party. The party with the most registered voters does not always win—the members must get out and work."

"Life in our community is somewhat similar. It isn't enough that people just 'live' here. We must have folks buying, selling, trading, providing various services."

"In addition to merchants and tradesmen, we must have a number of unpaid workers—civic minded individuals who devote their time freely to activities and projects which benefit the entire community."

"It is the combination of people working, buying, selling, doing good for themselves and for others that makes our community a wonderful place to live."—Virden Recorder.

IMPOSSIBILITY "So far we have found no one who believes he is overpaid and underworked."—Granite City Press Record.

Dramatic styling heralds Two new Corvettes for '63

In the most dramatic change since Chevrolet introduced the first Corvette in 1953, America's sports car takes on an exciting new personality for 1963. Two models—the Corvette Sting Ray Convertible (below) and the Sting Ray Sport Coupe (above)—are vigorous, functional and aerodynamically clean. Features include retractable headlights, smooth rear deck unbroken by luggage compartment lid, and center rear deck fuel tank filler. Both models have bodies fashioned from sturdy steel reinforced fiber glass.

THE LAW

THE VAUDEVILLE VILLAIN AND THE POOR MORTGAGOR

Do you remember the vaudevillian with the long black moustache, threatening to throw the destitute widow and her children out into the storm, unless she makes a payment on the mortgage? In law, the widow is called the "mortgagor" and the villain is known as the "mortgagee."

The vaudeville play may have been all in fun, but the widow and the villain were using a financing device that is the basis for most purchases of real estate in Illinois today.

Mortgages Secure Loans A simple example will illustrate how mortgages work. Suppose that Bill wants to buy a house and lot from Tom for $15,000. Tom wants to receive the entire purchase price in cash, but Bill has only $5,000 cash. If his credit is good, Bill will probably go to a local bank or other lending institution, and make application for a loan of $10,000.

The bank will check Bill's credit standing, and if the loan is approved, Bill will sign a note promising to repay the $10,000 with interest, in installments spread over a period of years. As security for the loan, Bill will pledge the house and lot. This security agreement is known as the mortgage.

The mortgage provides that if Bill fails to make payments to the bank as they fall due, the bank may treat the entire balance on the note as due immediately, and may file suit in court to foreclose the mortgage. Should this happen, Bill will be notified of the action and he may come into court to defend if he desires.

If the court finds that Bill has in fact defaulted in payments, an order may be entered directing the master in chancery to sell the house and lot at a public sale, and to pay the bank from the proceeds of the sale.

If the sale does not bring money to pay the note, judgment may be entered against Bill for the deficiency. And if there is any excess after court costs are paid, this money goes to Bill.

The Right to Redeem In order to protect the borrower from hardship in case of temporary financial setbacks, Illinois laws provide that if a mortgage is foreclosed and a sale held by order of court, the mortgagor (the borrower) may redeem the property at any time within one year. In order to redeem, he must pay the person who purchased the property at the foreclosure sale the amount paid at the sale plus 6% interest.

There are various types of mortgages in use in Illinois today. For example, the seller of a house and lot, or farm, may not insist that the buyer pay the entire price at once, but accept a down payment, convey title to the buyer, and immediately take back a mortgage on the premises. Lawyers call this a "purchase money mortgage."

Other Purposes of Mortgages Mortgages are often used for purposes other than purchase of real estate. For example, many businesses and farm enterprises receive their initial capital by means of a mortgage on real estate owned by the businessman. Any time security is needed for a loan, this device of securing the lender is available.

It is possible to have several mortgages on the same property. Each mortgagee should record his mortgage with the County Recorder as soon as it is executed, so that he has a valid claim to the property, and all others who subsequently acquire an interest in the property take subject to his lien.

This column is written to inform and not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without consulting his attorney. Even a slight difference in the facts may change the result under the law. (The names used in this series are fictitious.) (The Illinois State Bar Association, 424 South Second Street, Springfield, Illinois, has published a pamphlet entitled "Buying a Home," which will be sent free to any person who requests it.)

Narcotics Convictions

A total of 13 convictions in as many arrests were obtained last month by the Illinois division of Narcotic Control for violations of the narcotic or dangerous drug act. Joseph E. Ragen, director of the Department of Public Safety, announced last week. The violations for which the convictions were obtained included sale of narcotics, possession of narcotics and altering or forging prescriptions.

Egg stains on table linens should be soaked in cold water before the linens are laundered. The stains come out easily if treated in this way, but hot water sets them and makes them doubly difficult to remove.

Tips For Safe Driving

The Chicago Motor Club has a number of suggestions that if followed will do much to keep one out of trouble.

For instance: If you can't see the pavement between your car and the one ahead, you are following too closely, regardless of the speed. It's recommended that you remain one car length behind the car ahead of you for every 10 miles of speed. Following too closely makes it easier to have a rear-end collision and also more susceptible to the effects of the carbon monoxide fumes from the car ahead.

In night driving there are two things to consider—your eyes and your car lights. Practically everything depends on one of these two factors, or both. Traveling too fast—overdriving your lights—is the cause of many nighttime accidents. By the time a driver sees he must make an emergency move he is beyond the point where he can do it. A good rule is to drive two-thirds as fast at night as you would under similar daytime conditions.

Be alert for the other driver's actions. Watch the other fellow at all times, but don't let his mistakes or carelessness upset you or make you forget your own safe driving habits. Keep your temper.

Wet roads can be dangerous, especially during the first rain after a dry spell. It takes a day or two of continuous rain to wash off accumulated oil film from the highway. Stopping will require about twice the normal distance.

Remember that every stop sign is a danger stop sign. Eliminate the danger by halting and yielding right-of-way to approaching traffic as the law requires.

Watch for oncoming cars making left turns in front of you. Watch the approaching car's left front wheel if his turn signals aren't flashing. Be prepared to stop the moment you see his left wheel move out of its normal path.

Disease, accidents and mismanagement cause three of every four cows in Illinois herds to be sold before they reach six years of age. A University of Illinois dairy scientist says this limits the cow's productive life to four years. And because of low production many never make a profit.

BICYCLE EXHIBITIONIST While driving along a main thoroughfare in a nearby city, a lady saw a boy on a bicycle some distance ahead of her. He was engaged in exhibitionist tactics—to the annoyance of motorists.

When the boy turned off the street, the matron followed to see whether she could identify the lad and report to his parents. As she overtook the boy she recognized him.

Yes, sure, it was her own Willie.

Mock Wedding Marks 25 Yrs.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Sreh of Lake Villa celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on Saturday, Sept. 8, first with a renewal of their wedding vows at St. Peter's Church in Antioch, then were treated to a surprise party in their honor that evening.

At 8 a.m. Mass at St. Peter's Church a mock wedding was performed. The "bride" wore a sheath dress of silver and gold applique on a white background, and carried a white orchid corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sreh, the couple's son and his wife, served as best man and maid of honor, and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Miesek of Waukegan served as bridesmaid and usher. A granddaughter, Laurel Ann Sreh, was ring-bearer. Father Lawrence Hanley officiated at the ceremony.

Following the Mass, breakfast was held at Ray Traves of Loon Lake for the immediate family.

A surprise party, hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Sreh's daughter, Nancy, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Sreh, of Milwaukee, was held that evening at the American Legion Hall in Waukegan. It was an evening of dining and dancing for the 110 friends, relatives and neighbors of the couple.

Garden Club Members Dine Husbands Sat.

The husbands of the members of the Antioch Garden Club enjoyed the dinner party given in their honor last Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Spiering. Much credit for a successful evening goes to Mrs. Ray Boller, over-all chairman, and her committee, for a delicious dinner; and to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hyre for showing unusual and colorful movies covering their recent trip to Alaska, Arctic Circle and Yukon territory.

Next on the agenda for the Garden Club will be their regular monthly meeting as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hyre at a Fall Festival, in their home and garden next Monday, Sept. 24, at 10:30 a.m. Mrs. James Blair of Barrington will start the day's program with a lecture on birds. This will be a timely topic, since many of the birds are gathering for migration and others are preparing for winter survival.

Another treat in store for the members will be the luncheon prepared by Mr. Roy Hyre, who is chief par excellence. Mr. Hyre's many interests include not only hunting and fishing in the northern wilds of this continent, but also preparing a delicious meal in the kitchen.

The day will close with President Mrs. Fred Oschmann calling a business meeting to order at 2 p.m. Most of the meeting will be devoted to a discussion of plans for the coming annual luncheon and card party to be held in October.

Lake Villa Legion Plans Rummage Sale

Please have your wife look in your attic, basement or anywhere else, to see if you have any discarded toys, clothing, or knick-knacks; or maybe your wife would like to donate a cake, pie or bread for the bake sale.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY J. SREH on twenty-fifth anniversary. (Candida by Leo)

Wed At St. Peter's Church

Patricia Chetebok, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Chetebok of Rt. 1, Antioch, and Joseph Zeien, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Zeien, Jr., of Rt. 3, Antioch, were married at St. Peter's Church in Antioch on August 25.

The bride was given in marriage by her father in a double ring ceremony with the Reverend Alfred J. Henderson officiating.

The bride's gown was of Chantilly lace over taffeta, with long sleeves and a scalloped neckline trimmed with sequins and rhinestones. The full skirt was in four tiers, sprinkled with sequins and rhinestones and with three large white roses on the back of the skirt. Her shoulder-length veil was held by a crown of rhinestones and crystals. She wore a single strand necklace of pearls, the gift of the groom. Her bouquet was white roses with lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor was Patricia Temi, and the bridesmaids were Terrie Gallagher and June Dressel. Junior bridesmaids were Kathleen and Helen Zeien, sisters of the groom. The bride's attendants wore street-length sheaths of turquoise silk taffeta, with overskirts. Their headpieces were turquoise with matching veils. They carried bouquets of yellow roses.

The junior bridesmaids wore dresses of apricot nylon jersey over taffeta with matching short lace jackets. Their headpieces contained matching roses and held apricot colored veils. They carried yellow roses.

Lake Villa Library Gets New Books

Mrs. Virginia Belke, librarian of the Lake Villa Township Library, recently attended a luncheon and Fall Showing and Revue of the 1942 new Fall Books. Optimistic about the appeal of the newer books, Mrs. Belke is enthusiastically ordering and accessioning new books for the shelves.

Lake Villa's Great Books group started their third year readings in the library last Wednesday. Mrs. Florus Albert again directs and encourages their activities, the 2nd and 4th Wednesday of each month at 8 p.m.

A large and beautifully executed photograph of a recluse, "Uncle Charley" has brought delighted comment from adults and children who have seen the photograph in the Lake Villa Library. The property of Miss Charleen Kamen of Lake Villa, the photograph was made by Von of Kewanee, Wis. It won a blue ribbon at the Madison Art Fair in 1941.

"Uncle Charley" was the late Charles Otadovec, who was born Dec. 14, 1878, and died Nov. 25, 1960, in Kewanee, Wis. An interesting and fascinating character during his lifetime, his photograph has now been adopted by library patrons as the picturization of their own particular favorite character in the books they read.

Antioch Man Wins Award From Navy

GREAT LAKES —Richard D. Endean, 608 N. Main St., Antioch, has earned two Navy awards: a certificate and check for Sustained Superior Performance in his position as Financial Manager and Assistant Director of the Financial Control Division, U. S. Navy Electronics Supply Office, Great Lakes; and a miniature gold anchor lapel emblem, signifying the completion of 20 years' Federal government service.

In presenting the award for Sustained Superior Performance, Captain W. H. Prior to his employment at ESO in 1947, Mr. Endean served on active duty with the Navy for six years, and was released with the rating of Chief Storekeeper, USN.

LESS TRAFFIC DEATHS

W. J. Payes, Jr., director of the Illinois Department of Public Works and Buildings, announced this week that Illinois is one of the few states to reverse the national traffic death rate this year, which is up 7 per cent over last year's figures. A reduction of 3 per cent is recorded in Illinois for the first seven months of 1962.

Register Sat. In Precinct

The Antioch Township Men's and Women's Republican Clubs held a joint meeting on September 12 at Blarney Island, Grass Lake.

Members enjoyed a moonlight trip to the island by boat. After separate business meetings, the two groups got together to discuss plans for upcoming events.

Plans were made for Precinct Registration Day, to be held in each precinct on Saturday, Sept. 22, from noon to 9 p.m. Voters who do not register on this date and are not already registered, may register with the town supervisor (Lloyd Murrie) or at the county courthouse.

With election day drawing nearer, plans for getting Republican workers out to vote were discussed.

A committee was appointed to make plans for a Red Murrie Day in October, a splash which is expected to bring townspeople out in force. The committee, composed of Herb Horton, Gilbert Meisger, Elmer Eberman, Walter Delaney, Agnes Van Paten and Herman Holbek met Tuesday night.

Lake County Cerebral Palsy Drive Opens

The Saturday recreational program for cerebral palsied children in Lake County will open soon for the fall and winter season, according to an announcement by Arthur Rubloff, president of United Cerebral Palsy. The program is open to children between the ages of 4 and 15. It will be supervised by persons who are trained in working with the handicapped.

Activities and games designed specifically to meet the needs of the handicapped will be offered, said Rubloff. Stress will be placed on development of body coordination, rhythmic motion, and hand and foot function.

Rubloff stated that the program will be initiated as soon as a suitable location is found which can be reached conveniently from all parts of the county. He urged parents of cerebral palsied children who are interested to contact the United Cerebral Palsy main office, 203 North Wabash, Chicago, Financial 6-4226, or Mrs. John W. Chairs, 52 South Linden Ave., Mundelein, LO 8-2116, local chairman.

THRIPS

Thrips, tiny insects less than one-twentieth of an inch long, are on the increase, especially in parts of Chicago where they are causing much damage to ornate or privet hedges. Under high magnification, adult thrips appear dark brown with white, red and yellow spots. Young of thrips are even smaller and are yellow.

Thrips were accidentally imported from Europe about 30 years ago and thrive especially on hedges and lilacs and some like onions and tobacco. The eat glad bulbs, too. Spraying the undersides of leaves with a mixture of two tablespoons of malathion emulsion concentrate per gallon of water every two weeks will destroy an infestation of thrips.

New hybrid sorghums are challenging corn as a source of silage for dairy cattle. University of Illinois feeding trials with dairy cows show that sorghum silage provides about 95 per cent or more of the feeding value of corn silage.

HEADLIGHTS

When should you turn on your headlights?

Too soon rather than too late. The law says they should be turned on one-half hour after sun-down, but few people check to see when the sun sets.

Evening shadows are tricky. They affect your ability to judge distances. Be the first to turn on headlights, not the last.

They'll help others to see you and that helps keep you safe.—Nokomis Free Press-Progress.

G.O.P. VIPS Meet, Talk

Robert McClory, Republican candidate for Congress, met with former President Dwight Eisenhower at Kankakee recently.

Mr. Eisenhower, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter and the Republican candidates for state, district and local offices participated in a parade witnessed by crowds estimated at more than 20,000.

Mr. Eisenhower, calling for the re-election of the Republican Whip, Congressman Leslie Arends of the 17th District, also urged the voters to give the nation a Republican controlled Congress.

From the Portland, Ore., Journal: "The longer the debate continues over a federal withholding tax on income from dividends and interest, the clearer it becomes that it would be an unfair burden on low-income taxpayers, and that collecting it would be a giant pain in the national neck."

Musical Program At Grant High School

The Grant High School Student Council will present a musical program to the student body on Monday, September 24. The program features the Vocal Aires, a mixed trio, directed by Roy Lockett, an Arthur Godfrey Talent Scout winner. He has recorded for Decca records and was a member of the DePaul Infantry Chorus. The members of the trio also have excellent musical backgrounds.

The repertoire of the group is extensive. It ranges from serious music to folk songs and good colorful numbers.

Demo "Koffee Klatsch" At Antioch Home

Francis S. Lorenz, State Treasurer and Democratic candidate to retain the office, campaigned in Lake County Tuesday, urging precinct workers to work hard for "one vote."

Lorenz spoke at a series of neighborhood meetings and "koffees." At a "Koffee and Koffach Klatsch" in the home of Rose Plechaty, Rte. 5, Antioch, he said Illinois will be a Democratic state Nov. 6 if the precinct work is done.

"One vote, a single vote, is of tremendous importance," Lorenz told Mrs. Plechaty and her neighbors. "In 1960, John F. Kennedy carried Illinois by less than one vote per precinct."

"If you work all day canvassing your neighborhood, interview dozens of people and only persuade one new voter of the justice of our cause, you will have done a great day's work."

Comparison of Methods of Trash Disposal

In an urbanizing area like Lake County a breakdown in any urban service would soon be a catastrophe. Most of us underestimate, however, how soon we could bury ourselves under our own old shoes, refrigerators, tires, melon rinds, and charcoal bags, and how close we stay to the brink of that disaster. The sooner we select areas and decide upon disposal methods the better those areas and operations will be.

In the publication Planning the Environment released this spring by the Regional Planning Commission and Health Department, reference was made to methods of garbage and trash disposal. Only very brief comments were made, however, concerning the advantages and disadvantages of the various disposal methods. In the following discussion will be pointed out the reasoning behind those evaluations of desirability.

Sanitary Landfill. This method of refuse disposal is a refined version of the open dump. The primary difference between the two is that sand and other inert material is used to cover the refuse in alternate layers. When properly maintained and operated these will not be unsightly or offensive and will not become breeding grounds for rats and vermin. This method is particularly well suited to land reclamation projects, and is the most efficient of the low-cost methods.

Incineration. Incineration reduces the volume of raw refuse by about 75%. Its residue which is organically inert may be used in landfill projects. Its high initial and operating costs are a deterrent to its widespread use. This method, however, is desirable for areas with limited disposal sites. Incineration is usually done in an incinerator and not by burning in an open dump.

Open Dumping. This is the simplest method of refuse disposal, but also the most unsightly and odorous. Undesirable because it attracts vermin and is a public health hazard.

Salvage. Disposal by salvage reduces the amount of refuse to be disposed of by removing marketable material such as paper, metal and glass. Uncertain market value of salvagable items makes this method undependable. Costs are also increased by sorting and baling of the salvaged material.

Hog Feeding. This method must obviously be limited to garbage. It is objectionable for both aesthetic and health reasons. Another reason for its lack of popularity is the fact that the garbage must be boiled in order to prevent trichinosis in the hogs. Collection for this method is normally restricted to institutions whereby the hog farmer can reasonably be assured that glass, tin cans and other dangerous items will not become mixed with the garbage. Obviously if the death rate among the hogs becomes too high, the farmer may cease operating, thereby eliminating an effective garbage disposal site.

Composting. This process converts organic refuse to humus, a product useful in agriculture as a fertilizer. Although used extensively in Europe, it is still in the experimental stage in this country.

THE ANTIOCH NEWS

try. There are several steps in converting refuse to humus. They consist of separation from organic material, shredding of the refuse, and a composting period of four to six weeks to ensure complete decomposition of the material. This method is only successful if there is sufficient demand for this type of agricultural fertilizer.

Other means of garbage disposal are being used, the most prevalent of these being the home "disposal unit," a grinder which pulverizes the garbage and flushes it either to the septic tank or sewage treatment plant. While this is one of the most efficient methods of garbage disposal, it has been found that it overtaxes the treatment facilities where they were not designed for the increased load.

Sequoits Drop Opening Game Thriller 18-14

(By Mike Brooks)

A hometown crowd of over 1100 watched a revitalized Sequoia squad lose their first game of the season, by a score of 18-14 to the McHenry Warriors. The Antioch team looked full of pep, which we have not seen for quite some time.

The McHenry Warriors took advantage of a 1st quarter shaky defense of the Sequoia. Halfback Ted Freund started a drive from McHenry's own 19 yd. line. Quarterback John Rourke and HB Freund played a two-man game that saw Freund run for 4 successive 1st downs.

With the aid of a 15 yd. piling on penalty against the Sequoia, the elusive halfback scampered around right end for McHenry's first tally of the season. The extra point kick was wide and the quarter ended with McHenry out in front by a score of 6-0.

Antioch settled down to a serious game of football with the beginning of the second quarter. The Sequoia's offensive machine started working with watch-like precision.

Senior halfback Rich Fitch, who showed great promise on last year's team, ran a very impressive ground game which sparked the 94 yard march to the Warriors' goal line. On a 21 yard aerial from Senior quarterback Dean Horton to end Les Geist, the Antioch eleven hit pay dirt. The extra point was booted by Greg Gates and the Sequoia left the field at halftime with a slim 7-0 lead.

Midway in the third period, McHenry's elusive halfback, Ted Freund broke away from the Antioch defenders for a long 68 yard jaunt across the Antioch goal line. Once again their extra point attempt was not good and the score was 12-7, McHenry.

With only seconds left in the third quarter, Antioch's now alert defense blocked and recovered a 4th down punt attempt by the Warriors on the McHenry's 10 yd. line.

The blocked punt set up the Sequoia's second touchdown of the night early in the 4th period. Rich Fitch cracked through the line into the McHenry end zone from 7 yds. Greg Gates' gifted toe once more found its mark and the Sequoia went out in front, 14-12.

Later in the 4th quarter, the Sequoia saw their victory hopes dim when Warrior halfback Steve Schweikert broke loose over tackle for a 70 yard journey. The final gun sounded with the Sequoia making a desperate attempt to score. The final score was McHenry 18, Antioch 14.

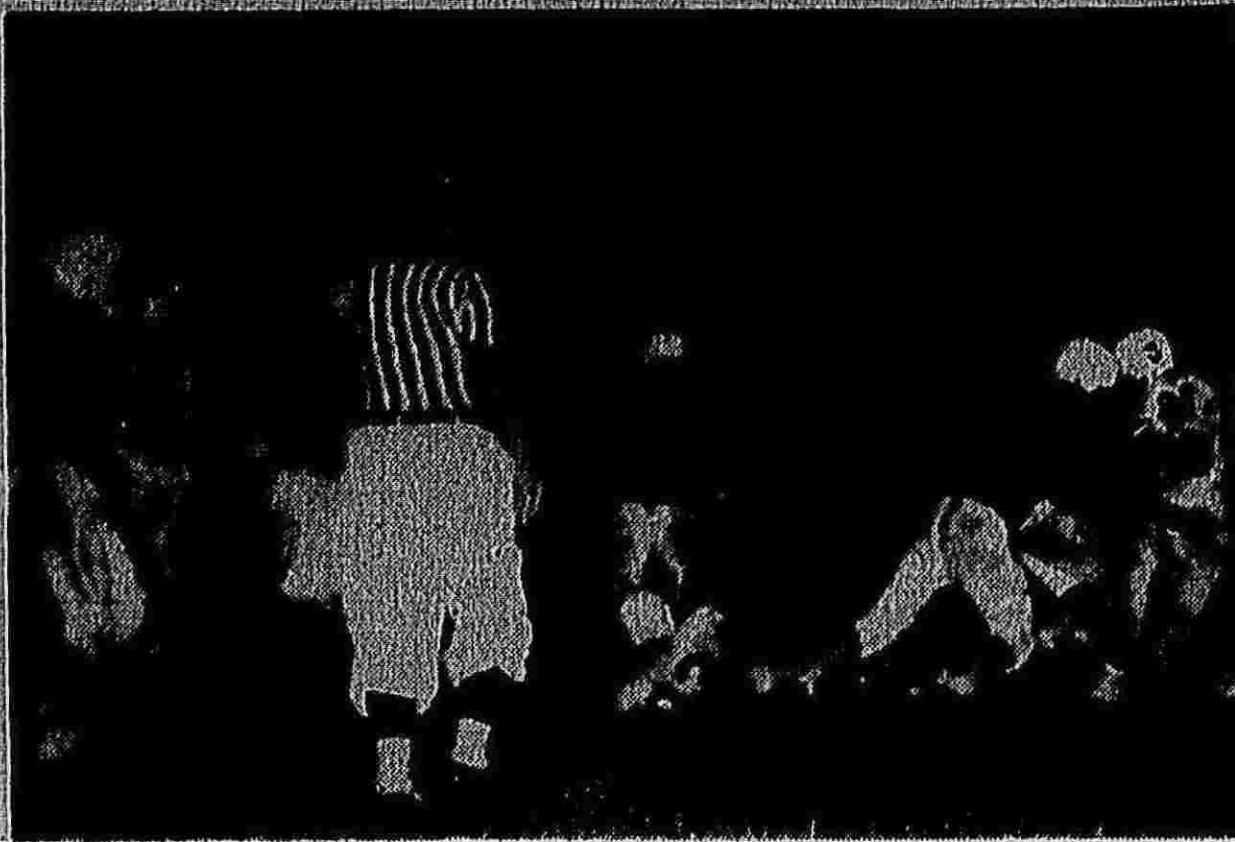

Coach Roy Nelson named Les Geist, Greg Gates, and Rich Fitch as the defensive standouts.

Nelson added that the major errors made by the Sequoia were an over-anxious defensive line, and McHenry's pass interception, which ended an extended drive into the Warriors' territory which could have resulted in another touchdown for Antioch.

The Sequoia travel to conference rival Grayslake next week to open their conference schedule. Game time is 12:30.

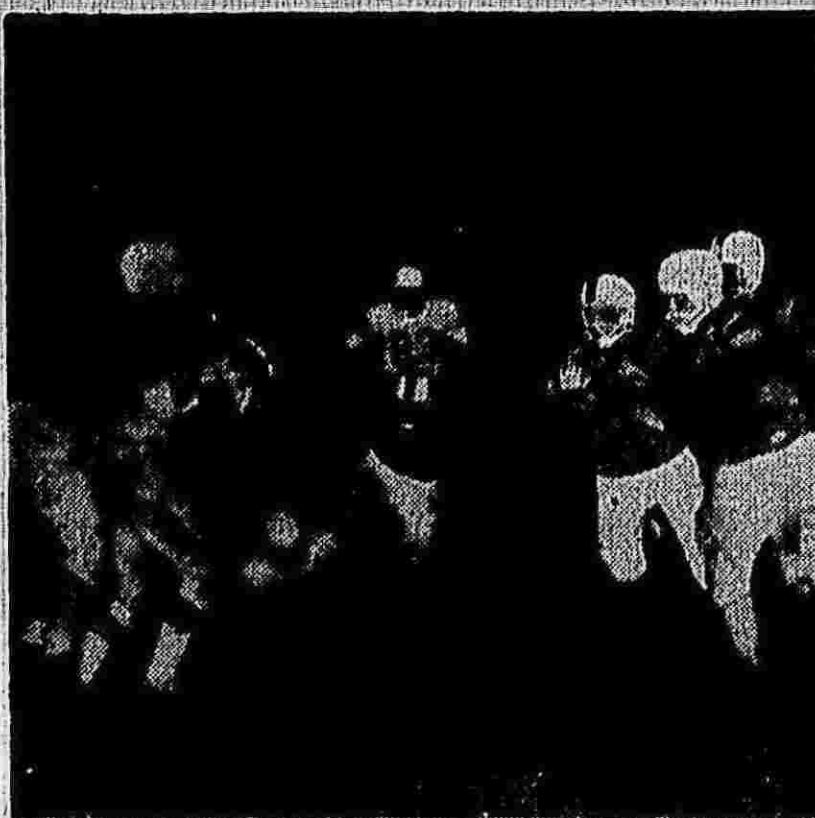

Overall, the team looks spirited, ready, and able to win some games this year. We feel that they will not have another winless season. If the town and school get behind these boys and give them some moral support, victory will once more grace the halls of ATHS.

Trophy, Trip Go To Winning Mr. & Mrs.

Barney Shunnesson's Boat House at Channel Lake was a-buzz with activity Sunday afternoon as the closing hour of the Mr. and Mrs. Illinois Angler contest drew near.

With beautiful weather prevailing most of the day, a storm hit in the closing hours of the fishing time, and contestants came in dripping, some of them without raincoats. Most of them stuck it out and fished through the rain.

With all the catches weighed and points added and checked, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rakosnik, Jr., 2827 South Avers Avenue, Chicago, were announced as the winners. Their catch included seven bass, for 70 points and totaling 25 pounds in weight, and one bluegill for one point and one-half pound in weight, a total of 96½ points. The runners-up were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smiley of Round Lake, last year's champions, with 80½ points. Third place was taken by Mr. and Mrs. Don Nichols of LaGrange Park with 75½ points.

The Rakosniks won an all-expense-paid trip to Hot Springs, Ark., to fish in the Mr. and Mrs. tournament to be held there on Oct. 13-14.

Winning vacations with their fishing know-how is nothing new to this couple. So far this year, Ed has won them a Wisconsin vacation and a trip to Jamaica slated for November 4, in addition Ludwick Kuba of Rt. 3, Antioch received a rod for a tagged crappie.

Eva Anderson of Fox Lake won a box of assorted lures. Ice buckets and coolers were won by Joseph Conti of Fox Lake Vista and Jerry Will of Lake Villa.

New Alleys Ready For Use Saturday

The event long-awaited for by bowling fans—completion of the eight new alleys at the Antioch Bowl—is slated for this weekend.

The alleys should be ready for bowling Saturday night, Jack Sampayo announced. With the alleys themselves completed for the last week, only the installation of the pin-setting mechanism held up the use of the alleys. The pin-setting machines will be installed the end of this week, and tested Saturday.

to their win of last Sunday. Mrs. Rakosnik appeared slightly apprehensive at the thought of a third fishing vacation in one year, but Ed just smiled and said, "We'll take 'em."

Ed Rakosnik is a research technician at the Argonne National Laboratories. The couple have three children—Dennis, 8 years old, Cathy, four and Danny, six months. Marge (Mrs. Rakosnik) used to fish with him all the time, but hasn't been able to do so much fishing since the arrival of Danny, Ed says. The couple have been coming out to this area to fish for many years.

All of the fish were caught on a Rapala lure, including the bluegill. Rapala, publicized in the August issue of Life Magazine, appears to be the new wonder of the fishing world. Made in Finland of balsam wood by Lauri Rapala and his family, the lure is handmade and each one tested. They are reported to lure every species of fish, from the largest to the smallest.

Marge Rakosnik caught two of the bass which made up the winning string Sunday.

Turkey Shoot At McHenry

Lake County Chapter of Ducks Unlimited will hold their Turkey Shoot at the McHenry Sportsmen's Club on Sunday, October 7. Shooters will vie for plump turkeys and flavorful hams while sharpening up their shooting abilities for the upcoming hunting season. Contests will start at 10 a.m. and continue until the last shooter has taken his 'pots' at the clay birds. Five men will shoot a round and there will be a prize for each round. The winners will shoot against each other for additional prizes.

All of the net proceeds will be used by Ducks Unlimited to continue their work to preserve our waterfowl heritage. In less than 25 years this organization has created more than 5000 miles of waterfowl breeding shoreline while establishing control over one million acres of water for DU projects plus another million acres of marshland breeding areas. They established 650 duck factories to raise ducks and planted thousands of acres of food for them to feed on. This required the building of over 700 dams and other water control structures. This, more than anything else, assured that the waterfowl of this continent would not become extinct, a possibility that almost became a fact in 1936.

Soph's Win, 14-13

The Antioch Sophs took their season opener against the McHenry Warriors Friday night by a score of 14 to 13.

Walter Henning went 65 yards for the Sequoia's first tally of the evening. Paul Lindblad, later in the game, plunged over from the 3 yard line for Antioch's only other score.

Coach Douglas Risberg lauded the defensive play of Rich Mason and the Shepard brothers as well as the offensive blocking of Pleviak, Hennig and Lindblad.

Thrills at Midwest Oval

WAUKEGAN, Saturday, Sept. 15—Bob Dugan, and bility that almost became a fact in 1936.

Chairman Ben Shostak announced that William Brook, Ralph Fomer, Richard Waters, president of Northern Illinois Conservation Club, A. B. MacDonald and himself will make up the committee which will be in charge of this affair. Membership in DU is being promoted and a booth will be set up for this purpose, next to the refreshment stand.

Information and directions to the club grounds, which are located on Pitzen Road, 3 miles west of Highway 12 on Big Hollow Road, may be obtained by writing to Shostak, Route 1, Antioch, or by calling him on the phone.

Dennis Gurgan were the big winners here tonight as the Waukegan speedway staged another program of sportsman and late model stock car racing.

Several track records were set during the course of the evening. Kannie and his '59 Ford started things off right by taking back the record he had held in qualifying until last week when Erik Johnson took it from him. Kannie averaged 49.15 mph in setting the fast time.

Each event was spiced by numerous spinouts and collision which took a heavy toll of automobiles. Jim Cosman slammed the concrete wall head on in the sportsman trophy race and was through for the night. The two sportsmen heads saw numerous pileups which all but blocked the track and nearly brought the red flag out on several occasions.

Many of the accidents saw cars become sandwiched between other machines, but despite the rough action none of the drivers was injured.

Dugan and Kannie gave fans some of the hottest racing duels seen in many years at Waukegan. They staged a wheel to wheel battle in the trophy dash with Kannie taking the win by a matter of inches. They came back to repeat their performances in the feature where they again staged a battle that had fans sitting on the edge of their seats.

The two exchanged the lead nearly every lap as they fought desperately for the lead. Kannie grabbed the lead from the back at the start of the second lap, but Dugan trailed him tightly. When the two moved behind slower traffic Dugan found the opening he needed and surged ahead. Kannie regained it, then Dugan, then Kannie, and on the final lap, Dugan once again took advantage of slower cars and surged ahead to beat out Kannie by the half car length margin.

Tough new '63 Chevrolet Trucks are here!

...THE ONES THAT WHIPPED THE BAJA RUN...TOUGHEST UNDER THE SUN...
TO SHOW THE WORTH OF NEW ENGINES, FRAMES AND SUSPENSIONS!

Sometimes the caravan crept along for hours in low gear. It took 17 days to go 1,066 miles! This is the road near Loreto.

Round trip from Detroit to the end of the Baja Peninsula is over 8,000 miles.

Millions of years ago nature fashioned a proving ground for trucks that man can never duplicate. Today it is known as the Baja (bah' hah) California Peninsula, Mexico.

These pictures give you only a bare idea of the place. The road is fine for 140 miles below the U.S. border. Then the beating begins. Rocks and hard-baked ruts bang, jab and jolt the trucks from stem to stern. Loose sand makes them struggle and strain. Dust chokes them. Heat roasts them. Rivers drench them.

The Baja Run took this Chevrolet truck caravan 17 days to go the 1,066 miles.

All the trucks performed magnificently. Not one was forced to drop out because of mechanical difficulty.

Trucks that can take this kind of beating can take on your toughest truck jobs. Come in now and see tough quality-built '63 Chevrolet trucks with all their new improvements.

Season Finale At Speedway

WAUKEGAN — A gigantic racing program is on tap for Sunday night, Sept. 23, as the Waukegan Speedway stages its Sunday season finale for modified stock cars. The event will be topped by a 100-lap double-point championship feature event.

Over 200 laps of events are on tap beginning with time trials at 7:15 p.m. Heat races and a semi-feature for the modified stocks, as well as a series of sportman heat races will precede the championship run and a sportman feature will climax the season. Races will start at 8:30 p.m.

The double point event will be the last chance drivers will have to improve on the current point standings at the track.

Top ranking drivers in the standings include point leader Eddie Stillman of Milwaukee, two-time Waukegan Speedway champion; last year's defending champion, Bill Strom of West Allis, Wis.; Bob Karry, Waukegan; Ron Larsen, Racine; Ted Rozinski and Paul Coen, both of West Allis; Roger Otto, Elkhorn; Paul Feldner, Colgate, Wis.; Junior Dodd, Waukegan; Jim Ouellette, Halos Corners and Greg Krieger of Milwaukee.

In addition, the program is expected to draw a host of top drivers from the Milwaukee area and will include such favorites as the 1957 Waukegan champion, Fuzzy Fashbender and other top names—Miles Mellus, Billy Johnson, Ken Tlougan, Ethel Rietzer and many more.

Fastbender Stages Comeback At Track

The 1957 Waukegan Speedway track champion returned to the speedway for the first time this season and walked off with top honors Sunday night. The talented speedster, Fashbender, set the fast qualifying time for the night, and then came from the rear of a 20-car field to take the win in record time.

Reynolds Wins Semi
Russ Reynolds, Racine, staged a good battle in winning the 15-lap semi-feature by less than a car's length over Ray Darnell. Reynolds took the lead on the fourth lap and led for the rest of the event, although chased the entire distance by Darnell. Several spins, collisions and close calls occurred during the evening's competition, and although several cars suffered considerable damage, none of the drivers was injured as the fans got more than their fill of action and excitement.

The sportsman feature event was no different. Alan Gutche, Pleasant Prairie, Wis., spun on the fourth lap and stalled. He was hit head on by Paul Howard, North Chicago, who although uninjured, panicked and climbed out of the car. Finding no place to go, he darted to the pit wall, and then back to the car again. Starter Duane Sweeney was unable to see the predicament, but stopped the race when signaled by other officials and Howard was able to get to the safety of the infield. Howard got off with nothing more than perhaps a scare of his life and a strict reprimand from track officials.

Composition Writing is Valuable Scholastic Aid

According to many educators, one of the most neglected areas in many modern-day school curricula is that of the familiar "composition writing."

Instruction in written composition has long been considered an important tool in helping students express themselves and encouraging clear thinking.

In studies made at various campuses around the country, it was discovered that a large percentage of college students were not adequately prepared by earlier studies to present their thoughts clearly and intelligently in writing.

What then has happened to composition and theme writing in the modern school? The heavy work and student load in recent years has forced many English teachers to by-pass theme assignments for lack of time to thoroughly read and grade the papers.

Many schools have been forced to assign teachers to instruct English classes even though they hold their majors in other fields.

Students in colleges and universities enrolled as education majors are just not receiving adequate training in grammar or composition. The teacher is forced to work from drills and other simplified exercises.

In the women's leagues, Sterbenz Construction took high honors in the Thursday afternoon league with a 1925 series. Curly Wertz was high scorer with a 204 game.

The Tuesday night Gutter Ball Girls had Bill's Service for high team series, with a 2371 (780-783-799). Florence Yucus was high scorer, with a 502 series, and Marlowe Hood had a 204 game.

Hospital plans fifty bed unit

Construction of a 50 bed medical and surgical unit has been recommended as the first phase in development of Countryside hospital near Lake Villa.

The hospital will be operated as a non-profit organization designed primarily to serve residents of four townships in northwest Lake County—Antioch, Avon, Grant and Lake Villa. A 15 acre site at Ill. Rte. 132 and Grub Hill road has been donated for the hospital with provision that the building be constructed within six years.

Recommendation for the initial phase was contained in a report submitted to Dr. Karl Klecka, director of the Hospital Planning Council for Metropolitan Chicago, by Dr. Charles U. Letourneau, president of Letourneau Associates, Chicago hospital consulting firm.

Dr. Letourneau was retained by directors of Countryside Hospital Association to determine needs for a hospital in the area and to make a preliminary survey of the area's financial ability to build and support such an institution. He found that the public interest would be served by a 100 bed hospital but doubted the ability to finance an institution of that size at the present time.

He estimated cost of the initial 50 bed unit at $1,200,000 of which $750,000 would be raised by popular subscription, $250,000 from a federal grant under the Hill-Burton act and $200,000 from public borrowing.

"It is our feeling," he informed Dr. Klecka, "that this amount of money is realistic and that for this amount an excellent beginning could be made on provision for the hospital."

Dr. Letourneau estimated construction cost at $1,000,000, leaving the remaining $200,000 for initial operating expenses and to cover deficits during the first and second years of operation.

The consultant said his survey indicated that the medical profession in Northwest Lake county would "support" enthusiastically a new hospital in the area provided that proper medical staff organization could be assured.

"The physicians who expressed this opinion estimated that 3,000 admissions per year could be counted on for a total of 21,000 patient days, which at an occupancy of 75 per cent would require 80 beds," the report explained.

"Unofficially, however, the physicians indicated there was a need at this time for 150 beds in the area to serve the people of the four townships involved."

Dr. Letourneau recommended that facilities for the first phase of construction should include a surgical operating room to handle emergency cases and uncomplicated surgery; an x-ray department for multi-purpose examinations and a small laboratory to handle routine laboratory tests that are generally used by practitioners in the area.

The consultant said maternity service should be provided in the 50-bed second phase of construction.

"The reason for leaving out the maternity service at this time is that the hospital should be able to operate on 95 per cent occupancy in order to obtain enough income to be put away for construction of the second phase," he explained.

"A flexible plan should be developed so that the first 50 beds would only be the first installment of a fairly large institution."

"If the population continues to develop in this area during the next 10 years as it has in the past 10 years, 150 beds will not be sufficient to handle the needs of 1972."

In asking the Hospital Planning Council of Metropolitan Chicago to support development of Countryside, Dr. Letourneau pointed out that patients in the area would be closer, it would be more convenient for physicians who treat them and that relatives and visitors would not have so far to travel.

The accessibility of the new site from the various population centers in northwest Lake county ranges from three minutes for Lake Villa to 15 minutes for Grayslake," the consultant pointed out. "The majority of the population in the four townships is located within eight miles of the new site and within eight miles of the new site and within 10 minutes of driving time under optimum conditions."

Pointing out that there is no hospital in any of the four townships, the consultant recommended that Lake County be rezoned to permit a priority for Countryside under the Hill-Burton act. At the present time people in the area are obliged to seek hospitalization in Waukegan, Zion, Libertyville and McHenry. Dr. Letourneau found that it takes a minimum of 15 minutes to a maximum of 45 minutes for people in the four-township area to reach these hospitals under ideal driving conditions.

Officers of the Countryside Hospital Association are George E. Heuer, Antioch, Eugene Walszew, Fox Lake, first vice president; Warren O. Brown, Venetian Village, second vice president; Mrs. Edward M. Rundgren, Lake Villa, secretary, and B. J. Hooper, Lake Villa, treasurer.

Ill. Veterans Urged To Check Schooling

The Administrator of the Illinois Veterans' Commission, Mr. Edward B. Akin, announced today that many veterans are passing up the opportunity to continue their educational training by not taking advantage of the military scholarship offered by the six State-supported universities. He further advised that if a veteran had exhausted his GI training entitlement he could continue his education in part through the free tuition at any of these schools under the scholarship.

Mr. Akin also stated that all World War I, World War II, and Korean veterans, and those who served at any time during the draft period, were eligible for this scholarship if they were a resident of Illinois one year immediately prior to induction. He further advised that this scholarship can be used for resident training, extension courses, and correspondence courses.

Those veterans interested should contact the Illinois Veterans' Commission office in their area for more detailed information.

In Lake County, veterans should contact the Illinois Veterans' Commission office at 108 S. Genesee Street, in Waukegan. The office is open Monday through Friday between the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Stings Can Be Deadly, Says Health Dept.

Venom from honeybees, bumblebees, wasps, yellow jackets and hornets is drop for drop just as potent for certain susceptible persons as deadly rattlesnakes. Authorities believe that stings by these insects kill more people in the United States than the feared rattler. One prominent specialist suggests that some of the sudden deaths attributed to heart failure or heat prostration are, in reality, due to insect stings of susceptible individuals.

Violent reactions to stings most often occur in those who have some allergic tendency. A severe reaction is even more likely if their systems have been sensitized to insect venom by a previous sting, just as some persons become sensitive to penicillin.

THE ANTIOCH NEWS
THURS., SEPT. 20, 1962

Children are particularly vulnerable because of their outdoor summertime play, their natural curiosity and abbreviated dress during warm weather. They should be taught to steer clear of stinging insects and not chase after them or try to catch them. Bees are more likely to sting on bright, warm days when their business of gathering nectar is interrupted, and when a heavy rain has washed the nectar from the flowers, they are frustrated, angry and in a stinging mood.

Gaily colored or dark, rough clothing attracts them, but they tend to avoid white clothing with a hard finish. As might be expected, they are attracted by perfumes and scented cosmetics.

When the worker honey bee stings, it leaves its stinger and venom sac in the victim's skin. Even though separated from the bee, the stinger keeps working in deeper for about 20 minutes, while injecting more venom. Remove the stinger as quickly as possible, trying not to squeeze more venom into the wound. Cold packs will slow down absorption of the poison and help ease the sting while medical aid is sought, which should be done immediately.

SHORT WEIGHT ON PREPACKAGED MEAT

Retail stores and the grocery industry of Illinois have been congratulated by Ralph S. Bradley, director of the Illinois Department of Agriculture, for corrective measures they have taken to insure exact weights in prepackaged meats.

According to Bradley a check of 80 retail stores throughout Illinois three weeks ago revealed that out of the total only two were found to be in violation of the law. A check of 60 stores last week uncovered only one store which was selling short weight packages.

Checks by the Agriculture Department's Division of Standards during May and June revealed that around 80 percent of all stores checked were found to be selling short weight prepackaged meats.

"As I know they would," Bradley said, "most of the grocery and meat industry has cooperated fully in correcting certain practices which were costing Illinois consumers about $250,000 a day."

Good Student Can Save on Auto Insurance

School bells can make money jingle in a young man's pockets if he maintains better-than-average grades.

Not only will a fellow be "money ahead" by hitting the books but he can rise to new stature among his classmates and show his parents that he's maturing and developing important character traits.

Good grades can save "real cash" for single young men and their Dads because a high scholastic standing is a prerequisite for substantial cash savings on auto insurance for the young male under a unique "Good Student" discount plan.

Offered by State Farm Mutual, the nation's largest auto insurer, the plan provides for a 20 per cent discount on automobile insurance for single males 16 to 25 who can meet any one of the following requirements:

- Are in the top 20 per cent of their class.
- Have a "B" average or better or a 3.0 grade average based on a 4.0 scale, or the equivalent.
- Are on the Dean's List, Honor Roll or similar scholastic list.

In addition the chances of a young man being involved in an auto accident are greatly reduced if he conscientiously burns the midnight oil.

Boating Classes At Grant October 2

BOATS COLLIDE IN LAKE GIRL DROWNS BOAT EXPLODES... MEN ADRIFF

These and many more headlines have appeared in our newspapers this summer. Could they have been avoided? Were YOU almost a statistic? Who had the right of way? What kind of equipment should I really have aboard?

Many questions could be asked. Many incidents could have been avoided by clear thinking and a good knowledge of your boat and equipment.

As the boating season comes to a close it is not only time to "lay up" your boat, but also time to prepare for next year. Winter gives us an opportunity to enlarge our "paper skills" through reading and boating classes.

Starting Oct. 2, at Grant High School, Fox Lake, the Chain-O-Lakes Power Squadron, a unit of the United States Power Squadron, will begin their free boating classes.

These are adult evening sessions, devoted to teaching "Safe Boating Through Education." This is the motto of the United States Power Squadron. The two hour lectures are on such subjects as Safety Afloat, Seamanship, Rules of the Road and others.

What about the girls? Will good grades pay off for them, too? Not in a "dollar and cents way" on auto insurance—girls already pay much less for coverage than young men in the 16 to 25 age group.

FORMER PRESIDENT DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER greets Illinois Senator Robert McClary.

'Stage Bands' Swing In U.S. High Schools

The most "swingin'" addition to school music programs is the high school "stage" (or jazz) band.

Similar in style to the Dorsey and Miller congregations of 20 or more years ago, the stage band is the musical outlet that now enables teenagers to play the good popular music of the current and past several decades. Rock 'n' roll, not considered a part of the American jazz scene by most musicians, is seldom played.

Stage bands have from 14 to 25 musicians and feature standard "big band" instrumentation: trumpets, saxophones, clarinets, bass, guitar, drums, accordion and piano.

These supervised music groups are usually after-school activities and are in addition to established school band and orchestra programs.

According to the American Music Conference, stage bands number 6,000 (one in every five high schools) and will increase to 7,200 by June, 1963. Ten years ago few high school music programs included this type of music group.

Texas, Missouri, and Oklahoma high schools are most active, with 90 per cent having stage bands. Approximately 60 per cent of West Coast high schools have them, while every high school in the Denver, Colo., school system has a stage band.

One major reason for the growth of stage bands, according to AMC, has been the fourfold increase in the number of school-age musicians since 1947.

In a North Texas State University poll of school band directors, 62 of 65 replied that stage band experience helped members of school symphony orchestras; more than half indicated that stage bands stimulated interest in over-all school music programs. Almost all of 100 non-music school officials queried were in favor of stage band activity.

Graduate, Earn More

With the opening of another school year, The Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois adds its voice to those of others in urging students to attend and graduate from high school. Not only will this goal insure greater earning power for the students in the future, but it will help the nation's economy. A recent release, prepared by Commerce Clearing House News Bureau from U. S. Department of Labor statistics, is proof of this statement.

It costs the average teenager $46,364 for failure to complete high school, according to Commerce Clearing House, in a study of lifetime earnings taken from U. S. Department of Labor statistics. The loss amounts to 22 per cent of what the teenager could earn in his lifetime if he continued high school to graduation, the CCH report said.

The official figures show that high school graduates earn $257,557 during their working lives. But those who quit high school before they graduate earn only $211,193 in the same period.

On the basis of annual income, the high school graduate can look forward to earning an average $5,567 a year. The high school drop-out's average is only $4,618, CCH said.

Statistics for 1959-60 also reveal a wide gap of more than 3 to 1 between graduates and drop-outs who lose their jobs. Sixteen of every 100 who leave high school before graduation remain unemployed for periods of six months or longer, compared with five such unemployment experiences among high school graduates.

The national unemployment rate as of October, 1961 among high school graduates was 16 per cent; among high school drop-outs, 30 per cent.

Sunglasses Are For the Sun

Improper use of sunglasses can lead to serious consequences, say vision specialists. For example, wearing sunglasses do not sharpen vision in mist and fog. Shades, to use the vernacular, actually increase visual hazards under such conditions.

Sunglasses should never be worn when driving at night (to reduce the glare of oncoming headlights). The glasses will also shorten the range of your own headlights and impair your ability to see road shoulders, highway signs and people or objects on the road, according to the Illinois Optometric Association. The experts also advise against wearing sunglasses to cut down glare from a television screen. This is properly accomplished by increasing room illumination to balance the brightness of the screen.

Awards To Libraries

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter, state librarian, reminded all public librarians and trustees in towns of no more than 25,000 population that only one week remains for them to make application for the Book-of-the-Month Club annual cash awards.

Final date to make application to the Illinois State Library is September 20. Application forms, as well as instructions, are available from the State Library in Springfield, Secretary Carpenter said.

The Book-of-the-Month Club annual cash awards for the purchase of books to small libraries in the United States consist of a main award of $5,000 and nine additional honorable mention awards of $1,500. Winners in each of the remaining 40 states will receive awards of $1,000, bringing the total value of the awards to $58,000.

Prior to this year the Club's grants in this field consisted of a main award of $5,000 and nine additional awards of $1,000 each, ten awards which were competed for by all the small libraries of the nation. Under the newly extended plan, the Club will award at least $1,000 to one small public library in every state of the Union, for a total of 50 individual awards. All awards will be given during National Library Week in 1963.

Be on Lookout For Whooping Cough Disease

Because of the recent outbreak of whooping cough in Waukegan and the indicated rise in Lake County, Arthur G. Baker, M.D., Director of the Lake County Health Department, urged parents to be on the lookout for symptoms of this disease in their children and provide adequate protection for them where needed.

Dr. Baker said that the first symptoms of whooping cough are very much like those of the common cold, followed by a slight cough.

Dr. Baker continued by saying that protection for the young child may be secured from the family physician in the form of the "baby or triple" shots which are given when the child is two to three months old.

Whooping cough, although often considered a mild disease, can be a very serious infectious disease. All ages are susceptible, but children under three and especially infants under one year are most seriously affected. Whooping cough is especially dangerous because it makes the sick child more susceptible to other diseases such as bronchopneumonia. Half of all whooping cough deaths occur among children under two years of age.

Dr. Baker said that recommendations state an affected child may return to school three weeks after the onset of the coughing symptoms, and that children who have been exposed to the disease may go to school, but should be checked daily for symptoms.

Dr. Baker suggests that parents should be alert in keeping their children away from playmates with the "sniffles" or coughs, and he suggests that any infant showing signs of possible infection or having been exposed to whooping cough should be immediately taken to the family physician.

Rain Or Shine, We Will Have Weather, Whether Or Not

Do you have a pet method of forecasting weather? A sensitive corn, perhaps, or an old injury that warns you of approaching rain?

Most people turn on their radios and TVs nowadays to find out if tomorrow will be a good day for a picnic, or golf, or what-have-you. They comment disparagingly on the ability of the forecaster to correctly foretell tomorrow's weather—but they rely on it. And actually, the weather forecaster is right a high percentage of the time. A great deal of work, by a great many men, has gone into the investigation of the causes of different types of weather and the compiling of data which culminates in the daily forecasts we now have.

The first attempt to gather regular data on the weather in this country was made by Joseph Meigs in 1817. He was head of the land office, and started to record the weather in various branch offices of this organization.

Joseph Henry, an American scientist, was the next pioneer in the field. He began to publish the first weather forecasts in 1849 when he was director of the Smithsonian Institution. His forecasts depended on quick exchange of conditions in other areas by telegraph.

The U. S. Weather Bureau was established by an Act of Congress in February, 1870, as an agency of the Army Signal Corps. The department was moved from the Army to the Department of Agriculture by the Act of 1890, and to the Department of Commerce on July 1, 1940.

The weather Bureau, in its daily work, reaches more people than any other government agency except the postal service. Some of its specified services, other than the daily forecasts via radio and TV, are to warn of dangerous storms along sea-coasts and on the Great Lakes, and oceans, the issuance of flood warnings, reports for air travel, weather advice for farmers and to help prevent forest fires, and weather data for food shipments.

The Weather Bureau has 370 offices in the United States and 9400 co-operative or part time Weather Bureau stations. The work of the bureau has been extended at various times, and more and more is learned of the complex combinations of conditions that result in our daily weather. Weather observing has now been extended into space, perhaps soon will spread to the moon.

Tax Exemption For Working Students

Parents may find they can claim their child as a dependent on their 1962 Federal income tax return even though the child earns $600 or more during 1962, Harold R. All, Director of Internal Revenue for the Chicago District announced.

"We have reports," Mr. All added, "that parents are telling their children to quit their jobs before earning $600; otherwise, they cannot retain the children's dependency exemption."

"It is not necessary for children to stop working this summer upon earning a total of $600."

Addressing his remarks to parents, Mr. All explained:

"Even though your child is required to file an income tax return if he has income of $600 or more for the year, you also may claim him as a dependent if certain conditions are met."

"If you have furnished more than half of his support, you may claim an exemption for him regardless of the amount he earned, providing he is under 19 years of age."

"When the child is 19 or over, you still may claim an exemption for him if he is a full time student during five calendar months in 1962, and if you meet the support test. A full time student is one who is enrolled for the number of hours which is considered to be full-time attendance."
